ENGLISH	CZECH
Easter is the time when nature begins to wake up for spring.	Velikonoce jsou čas, kdy se příroda začíná probouzet do jara.
Birching and pouring water on Easter Monday are symbolic of this awakening.	Šlehání metličkou a polévání vodou jsou symbolem tohoto probouzení.
The first bircher brings the home good luck.	První koledník přináší do domu štěstí.
In folk culture, the decorated Easter egg was a magical symbol of life and spring.	V lidové kultuře bylo malované vajíčko magickým symbolem života a jara.
The favourite colour for the egg was "red" - the colour of blood and life.	Oblíbenou barvou na vajíčka byla červená - barva krve a života.

Procvičujte následující rozhovory ve dvojicích! Případně doplňte chybějící písmena!

Two girls, Jane and Kate, are talking about Easter: Jane is an English girl, Kate is Czech.

Jane: How many Easter eggs do you have, Kate?

Kate: I have five. The red one is for my father, the blue one is for my brother, the yellow one is for my friend Tom, the green one is for my friend John and the orange one is for my friend Mike.

Jane: Do the boys always spank you with a rod on Easter Monday?

Kate: Yes, they do. And the girls give them Easter eggs. And sometimes they drench boys after lunch.

Jane: It must be fun!

Kate: Yes, it is! This year you can try it, too!

Two boys, Tom and John, are talking about Easter.
John is an English boy, Tom is a Czech boy.

John: Why do the boys spank the girls with a rod every Easter Monday?

Tom: It is a Czech custom. The girls always give us Easter eggs and sometimes they drench us, too.

John: It must be funny! How many Easter eggs did you get last year?

Tom: I got three. One from my mother, one from my sister and one from my friend Kate.

John: Did the girls drench you?

Tom: My friend Kate did, but my mother and my sister didn't.
