Working women - good idea

I think it is better for a woman to have her own work. It is healthy for women to work outside the home. Working women are interesting people, because they have a lot more experience, and they have new ideas to share with the family. They also help to support the family, the extra money makes life better, and if the husband is sick or out of work, the wife can earn money for the family.

And if the wife is not at home all the time, the children and husband learn how to do housework and take care of themselves, and all the people in the family help each other with everything, so the whole family is much happier.

Families are safer when women work.
