Read: "The policeman prince"

Prince William was the son of the old king of Bavaria, in Germany, many years ago. When he was a young man, he always enjoyed adventures. This is the story of one of his adventures.

Prince William was staying with his family in the small town of Augsburg. The captain of the police in the town was very lazy. He was not doing his job and the people of Augsburg were becoming unhappy and angry. Their money was not safe in the banks of the town. There were lots of thieves in the streets. Prince William heard about this and decided to make the police work harder. He had a plan.

One night he changed into an ordinary shirt and trousers and, with two friends, he left the king's palace late at night. The three young men went out of a door at the side of the palace. The streets were very dark because there was no moon. They did not talk.

They were walking down a small street when they saw two men. The two men were coming slowly and quietly down the street. They were carrying a heavy wooden box.

The young prince and his two friends waited quietly in the shadows. Suddenly the prince shouted: "Stop!"

The two men didn't stop. They dropped the box and ran, but the prince and his friends were young and strong. They could run fast. They caught the two men easily and took them both back to the palace. Inside the wooden box they found a lot of gold and silver from the biggest bank of Augsburg.

The next day Prince William went to see the captain of the police. The captain was sitting in his office. He was eating a pie. He jumped up quickly when he saw the prince.

"Have you found the gold and silver from the bank?" the prince asked. He was smiling. Of course the police captain knew nothing about it. He called a few of his policemen. No, they knew nothing about the gold from the bank. They weren't very happy when the prince took them back to the palace and showed them the two thieves and the box of gold and silver.

They started to work harder after that and the people's money was safe inside the banks of Augsburg.
